

DAIRYMAN W. E. COUGHENOUR LOSES LIFE TRYING TO GET COWS FROM BURNING BARN

Charred Remains of Connellsville Township Man Recovered From Ruins.

MUCH LIVESTOCK KILLED

Only One of Herd of 15 Cattle Remained; Horse Burned, Two Others Injured; 20 Hogs and Pigs and Lot of Chickens Gone; Employee Hurt.

In an effort to rescue his herd of cattle from the burning barn on his farm on the Narrows, Connellsville township, last night, William E. Coughenour, 52 years old, one of the leading dairymen of the region, was burned to death. The charred remains were recovered from the ruins of the barn at 7 o'clock this morning.

One horse, 17 cows, 20 hogs and pigs, three calves and about 75 chickens were burned, together with the large stock of hay and feed, the dairy equipment, farm machinery, two silos, one full, the other about empty, and several small buildings standing near the barn. Wind blowing in an opposite direction prevented the fire from communicating to the house.

Paul Colborn, an employee on the farm, was burned about the face, but not seriously. The loss is estimated at $10,000 to $12,000.

Mr. Coughenour had been to Connellsville delivering milk and did not reach home until 11:30 o'clock. He put away the horses, but had not removed the harness when he noticed the odor of smoke. With his son, Ellis, and the Colborns an investigation was begun which revealed smoke coming from the ceiling over the stable. Feeling close, Mr. Coughenour discovered the hay in the mow above was afire. Instructing the boys to get cans of water, Mr. Coughenour secured an axe and cut away the board in the ceiling, hoping to permit lighting the fire to better advantage. It did not have the desired effect, however, and the flames were soon beyond control.

Seeing no hope of saving the barn, Mr. Coughenour and his assistants set about getting out the stock. The horses were removed without much difficulty, with the exception of the one burned to death. Two others were burned about their heads and may be killed as a result.

Mr. Coughenour then set about releasing and driving out the cattle. The terrified animals were driven from the stable but all but one rushed back to the flaming building. It was later found that Mr. Coughenour had released the last cow at the extreme end of the barn when he was either trapped by a fall from the mowing mow, overcome by smoke or injured by one of the frightened cattle. When rescuers came upon his body it appeared as if he might have been caught by a fall of burning hay. The stable and chickens were in the building next to the barn. Only one of 40 pigs and three chickens escaped the flames. Three calves also perished.

Supposedly when Mr. Coughenour was injured or trapped, a cry for help was heard. Paul Colborn rushed into the barn and ran the entire length of the building, looking for his employer but could not hear or see the body was impossible because of the heat, until this morning.

The charred remains were found by W. C. Bishop, former Councilman of W. Hoover and employees of the Fayette County Gas company who had gone to the scene to look after gas connections which were burned out in the barn. The trunk was placed on the gas company's truck and brought to J. E. Sims' undertaking establishment.

Under the direction of Walter Evans, employees of the gas company laid a new gas line around the barn so the house, the supply to the house having been cut off.

How the fire originated has not been determined. It is understood Mr. Coughenour carried no insurance. Only last week he paid $500 for several head of cattle. The dairy farm was formerly the old Samuel Long farm. Mr. Coughenour was the owner. This was the second time a barn had been burned on the same foundation.

When the remains of the unfortunate dairyman were found his watch was found to have stopped at 12:10 o'clock. The crystal was unbroken.

Mrs. Coughenour, whose heart is not good at best, was prostrated over the tragedy. She was at home at the time.

After the fire was discovered a call was sent to the fire department but the women did not respond for the reason that chemicals are considered useless in fighting a barn fire. It was said at the department this morning that no explanation was given that anyone was missing in the barn or that the blaze was just in its inception. Had these facts been known the department could have been there in short order and might have done something with the chemical apparatus.

Mr. Coughenour was born in Bedford county June 18, 1867, a son of Joseph and Delilah Kitz. He attended the public schools of Juniata township, and grew to manhood on the home farm, remaining there until March 3, 1892, when he came to Connellsville, residing here and in the township ever since. In January, 1892, the deceased married Miss Ida Grace Adams, who with the following children, survives: Mrs. Charles McGowan, Mount Pleasant; Mrs. Helen Leighty, Connellsville; Myrtle, Mary Lou, Bertha May, Ellis Samuel and Melvin, all at home. He is also survived by the following brothers and sisters: John, Samuel and Lorenz Coughenour, all of Connellsville; Charles and Jacob, Buffalo Mills; Mrs. Bert Tripoli, Windman; Mrs. John Long, Cumberland; Mrs. Louis Smith, Windman; Mrs. Eva Latta, Berlin.

In politics Mr. Coughenour was a Republican. He was a member of the United Brethren church, the Junior Order, United American Mechanics and the Connellsville lodge of Macahees.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon from the family residence, with Rev. J. S. Shewers, pastor of the United Brethren church, officiating. The interment will be in Hill Grove cemetery. The services will be at 2 o'clock.

RESIDENTS OF ALL FRICK PLANTS ARE BEING INNOCULATED

Company Physicians Visiting All the Plants to Prevent Any Spread of Influenza.

The H. C. Frick Coke company is taking precautionary steps to prevent influenza and pneumonia from getting a grip in its plants and by affecting employees also down production. Physicians of the company are inoculating all employees and their families in every plant. The work has already begun and thousands will be inoculated.

The physicians will go to Leanington No. 1 and No. 2 this week. At Leanington No. 1 alone it is expected about 3,000 persons will be treated.

The cooperation of the population of the coke plants is asked by the physicians. It is a tedious job for the doctors, who have to go from house to house and convince every person that the treatment is necessary to make them immune from the dread disease.

The persons at the Adele and Davidson plants have already been given a "shot."

There are five physicians engaged in the work and they are making satisfactory progress although in some instances it is hard to make everyone understand how the treatment will help and that it is being done everywhere as a precaution against the disease.

The influenza has not yet gained any hold in this region. A few cases have been reported by physicians and others who were afflicted have about recovered. No deaths from the disease have been reported.

NUMBER 13 FIGURES EXTENDED IN NEW MINISTERS' CAREER.

The number 13 has figured to an unusual degree in the career of Rev. J. Earle Edwards, new pastor of the First Baptist church, who entered upon his work here Sunday. Friday he has stood out prominently. Rev. Edwards was the 13th minister of the family to the immediate family. He was the 13th member of the Delaware Avenue church at Wilmington, Del., to enter the ministry. In his morning address Rev. Edwards recalled that it was Friday, the 13th, in 1917, that he took up the work at Greenville, from which place he was called to Connellsville, and that on Friday he came to the First Baptist church here.

MAKE YOUR CHURCH RELIGIOUS CENTER, NEW PASTOR'S CALL.

No Conceit, Only Ambition, in Program, Rev. Edwards Tells Baptists.

END OF TIME DISCUSSED

Cause to Be Discussed, Rev. Francis J. Scott at U. P. Church; That Is, Left to God, New Episcopal Minister.

Cooperation of the membership and their leader to the end that the First Baptist church shall become the religious center of Connellsville was the call sounded by the new pastor, Rev. J. Earle Edwards, formerly of Greenville, in the opening sermon of his pastorate Sunday morning.

"The man, with cooperation, make this church the center of everything around here," said the pastor. "There are a great many churches in Connellsville. This is in the center of them. Why not make it the center in influence? This is no conceit, it is ambition. Let the people come from all around to see what the Lord is doing here. He is expecting it of us."

It will be a great joy to see the church using its little means to accomplish great things.

The sermon theme of the morning was based on the words, "Greater Works than these Shall Ye Do." The address was brief and more in the nature of a get-acquainted talk. Rev. Edwards expressed pleasure at the reception given him and his wife on their arrival here; also the interest taken in them by the congregation in sending a committee to Greenville for the final service.

"I believe I have because I belong here," because God directed that I come here," said Rev. Edwards. In line with the general address of the church everywhere, great things are expected of Connellsville Baptists under the new leadership, he added.

The Lord has no magical way of doing this work. We've got to do it. The new pastor announced that he was beginning with March the first Sunday morning service in each month will be set aside for communion, exclusively. There will be no sermon. Communion was observed yesterday, following the preaching service. The church was well-filled and nearly all remained for the sacrament.

New World Movement enrollment pledge cards were distributed. The pastor asked the people to keep them for a month and pray over them before signing and returning them.

CANT FORECAST END OF TIME—REV. SCOTT

Rev. F. J. Scott, who conducted his initial service at the United Presbyterian church yesterday morning, did not deliver an introductory address. He said he would make an introductory talk next Sunday.

Rev. Scott dealt with the coming of the end of time and the preparation for it. "No one shall say when the end of the world will come," he declared. "That is written in the Bible, and if some man sets a date for the world to end that is the reason why it should be ridiculed because you should know that the world will not come to an end at that date as that would be confirming the statement of men, and God alone knows when the end shall come."

"There must be an ending of things because it is going wrong and things must be made right again. God made the world right and it went wrong because man went wrong. Nature sympathizes with man and when man went wrong, the world went wrong." (Continued on page two.)

PROF. KEISTER'S WIFE PREPARING TO ASK DIVORCE

Contemplated Action Is Sequel to Disappearance of Son of Scottdale Family in West.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Feb. 2.—As a sequel to the mysterious disappearance last December while on his way to Mount Pleasant, this county, of Prof. Donald G. Keister, divorce proceedings are said to be in preparation for filing against him in the Dane county circuit court, Madison, by Mrs. Edith Morrison Keister, Prof. Keister's wife.

Announcement that the wife will seek legal separation follows the stories of Prof. Keister's mysterious disappearance, the loss of his automobile and rumors concerning the securities he had in his possession at the time he left Milwaukee to come to Mount Pleasant to spend the holidays with his wife, who was visiting relatives there.

Prof. Keister was supposed to have started for Mount Pleasant in his motor car. In his possession he was supposed to have $25,000 in Liberty bonds. A mysterious letter arrived in Milwaukee addressed to Keister's attorney stating he had run with an automobile accident "somewhere in Indiana." While search was still being made, Keister suddenly appeared at the office of his lawyer. He could not explain his actions and apparently had lost his memory. He appeared to be dazed and was removed to Mount Sinai hospital, later he was taken from the city by relatives, apparently coming to Pennsylvania.

Further investigation it is reported, disclosed that Prof. Keister had been friendly with Miss May Meyers, formerly in his employ at the university.

Keister was married about 10 years ago while still a student. The ceremony took place at the home of his wife's parents at Mount Pleasant.

LAYTON GIRL WAS SLAIN BY UNCLE, CORONER'S BELIEF

Evidence Unearthed in Thorpe-Brewer Tragedy Leads to This Conclusion.

When the bodies were first discovered it was thought robbery had been the motive. No weapons could be found anywhere, but late yesterday afternoon the little gun used by Thorpe was discovered.

The girl had been shot through the left temple, a .22 calibre revolver being used. The gun had been held so close to her head that the fire from it charred the flesh. Then Thorpe had fired a shot directly at his forehead. This did not kill him, it flattening out against the heavy bone. He fired a second bullet into the right temple and fell across the girl. It is believed, it is said Thorpe wanted his niece to be intimate with him and had made threats. There had been no struggle preceding the murder, it is indicated, as the clothing of the girl had not been disturbed.

In Thorpe's vest pocket were 15 loaded cartridges of the same calibre used in the little gun. This is further indication of murder, it is claimed.

Thorpe had cashed a Liberty bond and made several purchases for the girl at the store of Abraham Joseph in Perryopolis. The bundles in which the articles had been wrapped were found along the road.

The body of the girl was taken to the home of her parents in Layton yesterday afternoon.

Funeral services were held at the home this morning and interment was in the Mount Washington cemetery at Perryopolis.

The body of Thorpe is still at Funerals Director Blair's morgue. His father is expected to come from Windman and make arrangements to have funeral services held there.

Many persons visited the scene of the murder yesterday afternoon, walking out from both Perryopolis and Layton. The bodies of the men and girl did not lie more than four feet away from the edge of the road, in full sight of anyone who might be passing.

A woman at the Layton Fire Brick company reported that on Friday night his dog did not seem to want to pass the spot while he was on his way to work, but he did not make any investigation.

Thorpe was a Baltimore & Ohio employee engaged as the time in Pittsburg. He had come in the Brewster home on a visit.

DYNAMITE IN STOVE

Mill Run Men Escape Injury Only Because Explosive Is Frozen.

While John Dickey and Lee Whitely were kindling a fire in a cook stove in a vacant house at Mill Run the other day what is supposed to have been a dynamite cap exploded under the back of the stove. Both men were standing close by the stove at the time. They ran from the house and took refuge in the barn. Returning an hour or so later they found ashes and burnt paper under the stove lids, the outlines in the ashes indicating that four or five sticks of dynamite had been there. The belief is to explode and that the fire the men had kindled consumed it. Dynamite burns easily but will not explode in the frozen state.

It is said threats had been made to blow up the house.

wrong the whole world began to go wrong, and the whole thing must be made right, again." A large audience greeted the new pastor. His first duties included the baptism of several new members.

DAVID AND GOLIATH

REV. WEIHAUS'S THEME

Rev. Frederick Weihau, new rector of Trinity Episcopal church, delivered his opening sermon at the church house in Fairview avenue at 11 o'clock, going to South side in the evening. His subject, here dealing with the battle between David and Goliath, and the discourse was an eloquent one. The monthly communion service also was held. Rev. Weihau will preach each Sunday morning in Trinity church and each Sunday evening at Scottdale. He is making his headquarters temporarily at the Yough House.

15 EGGS A DAY FROM 23 HENS, IN WINTER

Mr. Dunn's Hens Increased Every Day. Plan is Easily Tried.

"We have 23 chickens and hadn't had an egg all winter. In five days after feeding Don Sung, we got four to five eggs a day in three weeks. We were getting 10 to 12 eggs a day. In five weeks we got 15 to 18 eggs a day." John Dunn, Box 102, Cherry Valley, Pa. Mr. Dunn started giving his hens Don Sung in January, in zero weather. He now keeps his hens busy in cold weather, when they usually stop laying. A trial course nothing if not profitable.

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs and is also a powerful tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her stronger and more active in any weather, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for 30 days and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold the weather, your money will be refunded by return mail. Get Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer or send 50 cents for a package by mail prepaid. Burrill, Dugger Co., 225 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.—Address 30-41.

REPORT MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry; Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chill, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts, put a tablespoonful in a glass of water, and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the seed of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They do not injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "laid" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c.

TARZAN AND THE Jewels of Opar

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Author of "Tarzan of the Apes" "Son of Tarzan"

Copyright, 1918, by A. C. McClary & Co.

It was not long before he came upon a solitary horseman riding toward the east. Instantly his eyes confirmed what his nose had previously suspected—the rider was he who had stolen his pretty pebbles. The light of rage flared suddenly in the gray eyes as the ape-man dropped lower among the branches until he moved almost directly above the unconscious Werper.

There was a quick leap, and the Belgian felt a heavy body hurtle onto the rump of his terror-stricken mount.

The horse, snorting, leaped forward. Giant arms encircled the rider, and in the twinkling of an eye he was dragged from his saddle to find himself lying in the narrow trail with a naked white giant kneeling upon his breast.

"The pretty pebbles!" cried the man upon his breast. "What did you do with the pretty pebbles—with Tarzan's pretty pebbles?"

The fingers relaxed to permit of a reply. For some time Werper could only choke and cough; but at last he regained the powers of speech.

"Achmet Zek, the Arab, stole them from me," he cried; "he made me give up the pouch and the pebbles."

"I saw all that," replied Tarzan; "but the pebbles in the pouch were not the pebbles of Tarzan—they were only such pebbles as all the bottoms of the rivers, and the shelving banks beside them. Even the Arab could not have them, for he threw them away in anger when he looked upon them. It is my pretty pebbles that I want—where are they?"

"I do not know; I do not know," cried Werper. "I gave them to Achmet Zek or he would have killed me. A few minutes later he followed me along the trail to slay me, although he had promised to molest me no further, and I shot and killed him; but the pouch was not upon his person, and though I searched about the jungle for some time I could not find it."

"I found it, I tell you," growled Tarzan, "and I also found the pebbles which Achmet Zek had thrown away in disgust. They were not Tarzan's pebbles. You have hidden them! Tell me where they are or I will kill you," and the brown fingers of the ape-man closed a little tighter upon the throat of his victim.

Werper struggled to free himself. "My God, Lord Greystoke!" he managed to scream, "would you commit murder for a handful of stones?"

The fingers at his throat relaxed, a puzzled, far-away expression softened the gray eyes.

"Lord Greystoke!" repeated the ape-man. "Who is Lord Greystoke? Where have I heard that name before?"

"Why, man, you are Lord Greystoke!" cried the Belgian. "You were injured by falling rock when the earthquake shattered the passage to the underground chamber to which you and your black Waziri had come to fetch golden ingots back to your bungalow. The blow shattered your memory. You are John Clayton, Lord Greystoke—don't you remember?"

"John Clayton, Lord Greystoke!" repeated Tarzan. "Then for a moment he was silent. Presently his hand went valiantly to his forehead, an expression of wonderment filled his eyes, and he gazed on and on, understanding. The ape-man relinquished his grasp upon the throat of the Belgian, and leaped to his feet.

"God!" he cried, and then, "Jane!" Suddenly he turned toward Werper.
